Early Decision -versus- Early Action

Early Decision is binding. CAUTION!!! This means you are 100% going to that school, if accepted, and you will withdraw all other applications. You can only send this to one school.

Early Action is NOT binding. This means you really think you want to go here and gets you an admissions decision very quickly, but does not mean you have to attend if accepted. You can ask for early action on more than one school.
